

Visiting PEEC

Whether you live on the Pajarito Plateau or are visiting from out of town, PEEC has something for everyone. The Nature Center is free and open to the public. Bring your family and visitors to PEEC and you'll be rewarded by learning something new about our local ecosystem.

Explore interactive exhibits and see live, local critters. Ask an expert about local flowers and birds. See examples of low-water use lawns and gardens and a rainwater harvesting system. Use the herbarium to identify local plants (please call for appointment). Browse our nature library. Visit our kids' organic vegetable garden.

Stay for a while and participate in a PEEC program and visit some of the natural wonders that the Jemez Mountains offer.

Hours

Serving the Community through Education

PEEC's home in Los Alamos is uniquely perched between the sun-drenched Rio Grande Valley and the deep green coolness of the Jemez Mountains. Low and high elevation ecosystems overlap and result in rich ecological diversity with many opportunities for discovery.

PEEC offers special programs, talks, hikes and classes throughout the year focusing on everything from the local ecosystems to global environmental issues.

Visit our online calendar to learn about upcoming events at www.PajaritoEEC.org.

If you'd like to schedule a private program for your school group, scout troop, or other organization, please contact our program coordinator at Programs@PajaritoEEC.org.

Connect to Los Alamos Trails & Open Space

Los Alamos County and the adjacent lands of the Santa Fe National Forest boast over 75 miles of trail to explore right in town. Whether you hike, mountain bike, run, or ride horses, pick up a free map of the Los Alamos Trail Network at PEEC and start your adventure on the PEEC Nature Trail leading into Pueblo Canyon, right behind the Nature Center.

In addition, PEEC stocks a variety of guidebooks on local trails, native plants, birds, insects, and more.
